THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Fight In Massachusetts

Washington, July 18. — THE reason there are so many Republican candidates for the 1948 presidential nomination this year is because the chances of election are so very much better than they have been for sixteen years. A few months ago the field seemed limited to about five. It is necessary now to enlarge it. New men have become available. Still others will be.

FOR example, if, in November, former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., should defeat Senator David I. Walsh in Massachusetts, undoubtedly he must be classed among the possibilities. Mention of him in this connection already is being made. Certainly he has many qualifications: youth, brains, character, good looks, a good voice, a good record, an engaging personality. In addition, he has an extraordinary family tradition of public service. Seven of his ancestors have sat in the United States Senate. And his course in the war was as unusual as it was commendable.

IT WILL be recalled that Senator Lodge resigned his seat in the Senate to go into the Army. There was not the least need for him to do that. No one thought he should. He had just been elected. The chances all were that he could continue in the Senate for as many terms as he wanted. To resign looked like the end of a promising political career—and so he was told. His seat could not be held open for him. There were other strong and popular Republicans in Massachusetts. Senator Saltonstall, elected in 1944, is one of them. Once out, it is not easy to get back in Massachusetts.

NOTWITHSTANDING all this and notwithstanding, too, his desire to stay in public life, Senator Lodge resigned. Nor did he, as easily he might have done, capitalize or advertise his resignation. There was no publicity about the "patriotic young statesman sacrificing his career to fight for his country." There was no "hero stuff" about his departure. There were no pictures taken, no radio farewell to his constituents, no speeches or parting gifts, no senatorial reception at which he received the congratulations of his colleagues, no "tributes."

IN BRIEF, Senator Lodge did not behave like a politician; he behaved like a gentleman. When his resignation became known he was already in uniform and abroad with the Army. And there he stayed until the war was over. He saw a lot of action; he made a good record, and he came back with as little publicity as he had when he went away. Naturally, he wants to get back into public life. Everybody in Massachusetts knew that, and everybody expected him to take the first chance. It is not exactly a break for Senator Lodge that the first chance is in running against Senator Walsh.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Senate-House conferees, unable to work out a compromise OPA bill because so many Senate members were on the floor of the upper chamber, will try again today. Immediate extension of OPA for not more than a year was urged by the War Relocation Advisory Board as a protection against dangerous price increases.

The Senate unanimously passed the Mead bill, providing additional facilities for veterans' education, and prompt concurrence by the House is expected.

A woman witness told the Senate War Investigating Committee that she had heard Representative May of Kentucky ask a war contractor, "What about that $3,000?" Another woman witness brought in the names of several other Congressmen, including Majority Leader Barkley of the Senate.

John L. Lewis won two victories when Admiral Moreell signed for the Government contracts with the United Mine Workers covering supervisors in the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation and with clerical and supervisory employees of the Indiana Collieries. DOYLESTOWN ASKS EXTENSION OF SEWERS

Profiles Are Nearing Completion and State Will Soon Get Plans

HEAR OTHER REPORTS

DOYLESTOWN, July 18.—Doylestown's over-all sewer extension plans that will eventually take care of the hopes and desires of many taxpayers who have been without sewer connection for years, are still in the making, according to a report at the July meeting of Borough Council.

Superintendent of Public Works Winfield O. Weisel, stated that the profiles are being completed now by the engineers and will be ready in another week or so to be submitted to the State for final approval, after which the sewer extension plans in Doylestown will receive the "green light." When that will be, is anybody's $64 question to answer. Council members agree.

What is unanimously desired by Council however, is that the sewer extension plans be hurried along and that all delay and fumbling be eliminated from now on.

Borough Solicitor Wesley Bunting, commenting on the situation, said that "people in the west end of Doylestown want improved sewer service and are entitled to it for they have been paying taxes for years." The same thing is true of other sections of Doylestown, especially the east end of town where a health problem is vitally at stake.

Hugh Collins, local real estate developer, was present at Council, asking that sewer service be supplied as soon as possible in a new building development that he heads, off the Limekiln road. Sewer Chairman Frank D. Good and Superintendent Weisel were authorized to get together with Collins and reach some agreement. Collins reported that the houses now under construction have been sold and that others to be erected are practically sold—so sewer service will be needed very shortly.

Councilman Good reported that the operation of the borough's sewer plant is progressing very satisfactorily.

UNCLE SAM'S CHECKBOOK

The fiscal policies of the Truman administration are strongly reminiscent of a once-popular story about a young lady who had a brand-new checking account. Presently her bank notified her that the account was overdrawn.

"There must be some mistake," she said. "I still have lots of checks!"

Uncle Sam has been following just the same methods the young lady attempted, and the psychology of our national leaders appears to be exactly the same as hers.

What are Uncle Sam's checks? There are several forms of them. One is currency. Look at a check; it instructs the bank to "Pay to the order of, etc." The fine print on paper money doesn't read that way—but the sense is the same: the U. S. Treasury is instructed to pay "to the bearer on demand," etc.

Legally, of course, there is considerable difference between a check and a piece of paper money. But as a matter in economics, under the present American system, they are almost identical. The resemblance was stronger when the dollar bill used to (as a check still does) have to have a dollar's worth of assets somewhere to back it up.

War Bonds follow similar form; they are another group of Uncle Sam's checks. Still another is the list of "foreign loans" which are extensions of credits to various nations to draw against in the "purchase" of American commodities.

Is Uncle Sam, like the young lady, "overdrawn?" He certainly is! If the banking laws covering private individuals also covered him, he would be on his way to jail. His "checks" have been handed out regardless; the only delay, for the most part, being the speed with which the printing presses could keep turning them out.

How about money? There is less in the way of tangible assets in the U. S. Treasury and the Federal Reserve System now than there was when only a fourth as much paper money was in circulation; and the quantity of paper currency continues to grow by leaps and bounds.

The national debt, if all obligations are counted in, is considerably more than the total value of all the assets of all the American people, including everything owned by the government itself. Yet the debt continues to grow, its precise rate of increase hidden by various bits of slight of hand. The Truman budget, according to latest figures, calls for spending about a

ONE MAN'S OPINION - -

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

Germany has not changed very much since the war... it is still possible for an American to be captured and held prisoner in Berlin.

Mr. Byrnes is for a united Germany... he suggests the possibility of the peace-loving peoples getting into an awful scrap otherwise.

The Pearl Harbor report indicates that several Americans were responsible... there also is reason to believe that the Japs were at least partly responsible.

But let it be understood in the future that when our State Department sends tough notes to another power, that power is not supposed to fight about it.

The Japs say they attacked because they believed a note from our State Department was an ultimatum. Incidents like that can be easily averted if ultimatums are clearly labeled "this is not an ultimatum."

Anyhow we have passed the first anniversary of the atom bomb and we are still here... properly grateful for this borrowed time.

BOY DROWNS IN SILVER LAKE; GUEST OF HIS UNCLE HERE

Daniel Riley, 11, Phila., Was Visiting With John Wallace, Rogers Road

HE COULD NOT SWIM

Lad Went Down While Playing In An Inner Tube In The Water

An 11-year-old boy from Philadelphia, who was spending three days' vacation with his uncle and aunt, was drowned in Silver Lake yesterday afternoon. Daniel Riley, 11, of 3102 Berkley Drive, Philadelphia, was quickly brought to shore and work of resuscitation started but to no avail. The drowning occurred on the Bristol Township side of Silver Lake and it happened shortly before four o'clock. Volunteer rescue workers and members of the Lower Bucks County Marine Association worked for nearly three hours in an effort to save the lad's life.

R. M. Jayne, Croydon, was lying on the beach near where the drowning occurred and swam into the water and dove to bring the body to the surface. The victim had been playing in an inner tube and had frequently bobbed up and down in the water, it was said, always coming to the top inside the tube. Then he did not appear, and his sister Joyce, 19, sat on the beach nearby in company with her cousins. Daniel could not swim.

Jayne, who recently recovered from an operation for appendicitis, after getting the boy to shore, began working on him at once to free his lungs of water. Two others, Norman Myers and "Skipper" Hutchinson, ran to summon aid.

It was but short while before there were crowds at the scene and they relieved Jayne who had become almost exhausted.

The Riley boy had been visiting his uncle, John Wallace, New Rogers Road, Bristol Township, since Sunday. He was the son of Mark Riley.

A shelter was erected by the rescue units to protect the victim from the sun, as they worked upon him in their strenuous efforts to revive a spark of life. Ropes had to be stretched around a hollow square to keep the curious at a distance. Cold drinks were served to the rescue workers from the canteen of America Hose, Hook & Ladder Co., No. 2.

Bristol police were at the scene with the radio car, dispatching messages for assistance from time to time until the arrival of Trooper Kutney from the South Langhorne barracks of Penna. State Police. Dr. Vincent Romano gave medical attention and pronounced the lad dead. Bucks County Coroner J. Alfred Richy viewed the body and then released it to be removed to the Holden morgue.

FREEDOM OF NEWS

One can whole-heartedly agree with Frank E. Gannett that "The United Nations has no more important task than to provide international freedom of the press for the whole world." Only in this manner will it be possible to eliminate the atmosphere of suspicion and mistrust which breeds wars.

The success of any effort to provide uninterrupted peace and security depends on leveling the barriers of fear and misunderstanding which separate Russia and the Western Powers, and it is difficult to see how this can be achieved as long as the Soviet Union continues a policy of rigid suppression of the news.

The difficulties which lie in the way of persuading Russia to reverse this policy are as great, or greater, than those in any other field. Russia's rulers have no intention of allowing a free expression of views. Their power rests on enforcing a rigid uniformity of opinion. They are afraid of what might happen if they permitted free speech in the Soviet Union, not to speak of free interchange of news with other nations.

Under these circumstances and so long as the Russian government is totalitarian in form it is probably futile to hope for a radical change in its policy of repression of the news. America can only continue to work for a greater degree of freedom. The prospects of eventual success will be improved by progress made—any—in winning Russian co-operation on other points not so closely affecting the internal security of the present regime.

MUST THEY STARVE?

Some 15,000,000 people will starve during the current famine in India, according to press reports, unless a way is found to sell grain to the British government for Indian famine relief.

In the light of India's long experience with famine causes and effects, the figure does not seem to be high. As to causes, the government of India can not be wrong. When the summer monsoon winds fail to bring the rainy season, there is sure to be a food shortage. This happens every five or six years and the country has a food reserve and a distribution system to avert disaster.

When the winter rainy season is light following a summer drought, serious trouble can be forecast. But following last year's rain deficiency, a tidal wave destroyed much of the rice field area. Combined with these devastating conditions is the fact that the war took a toll of food reserves and seriously disorganized the famine relief agencies.

Accusations are being made that the United States government is hiding the facts about the impending mass starvation in India in order to keep its food relief plan in other countries clear. But it can hardly be said of Americans that they are indifferent to such suffering, especially when India has the money to pay for the grain. The American people are now cutting their normal food consumption to share their needs with others.

third more than any revenues predicted even by the most optimistic forecasters.

The value of War Bonds depends, in the long run, on the question of whether the national debt can be repaid. Obviously, when it is bigger than the whole economy, and still growing, the possibility of repayment in anything except more fiat currency begins to dwindle.

As for the foreign loans, these are a further checking against an already-exhausted bank account. They represent one of the most astounding gambles in history. The foreign nations concerned are, for the most part, admittedly bankrupt. They have adopted economic policies, founded on Communism, which have invariably failed to "pay off." We ourselves are topheavy with debt. Yet somehow it is felt that a sort of "league of bankruptcy" may, through co-operation, suddenly become solvent.

Most of the foreign loans are for the purpose of paying for American goods. It would be cheaper and more efficient, in the long run, simply to give away the goods and be done with it—without the farce of giving also the money to pay for them. But that would be a little too raw to "go down" with the American public; and besides, the round-about procedure has the great advantage, from the point of view of the Democratic Party's national leadership, of furnishing an excuse for countless extra public jobs for political hangers-on.

The American goods most in demand, and for which the bulk of the loans will be spent—especially if our State Department has its way—will be for "heavy machinery" to set up factories in these foreign countries to make goods desired by American buyers; to make them with slave, underpaid or subsidized labor in competition with high-salaried American workers.

Time was when tariff protections would prevent such obviously unfair dollar-for-dollar competition—but the tariffs have been riddled by the Trade Agreements.

Uncle Sam is busy drawing checks as "loans" which almost certainly will never be repaid, and which will be used to take away from Uncle Sam and his children the industrial forces of production which is his one great remaining economic source of wealth.

Does this make sense? No, of course not. But neither have a lot of "mass psychology" movements which have caught hold from time to time: Holland's "tulip craze"; the "children's crusade" of the Middle Ages; even the suicidal march of the Leningis to the sea.

The laws of economics and finance apply to government business just as definitely as to private affairs—in the same way that the laws of physics apply to all forms of matter, whether an apple falling from a tree or an exploding atomic bomb.

The American people will begin to understand the follies of their national government, and to appreciate the disasters towards which those follies are leading us, when they begin to simplify these apparently complicated matters into the terms of their own experience.

THE other "strong Republicans" in the State had no burning desire to run against Senator Walsh. Senator Lodge himself certainly would have preferred something easier. For Senator Walsh is recognized as the best vote getter in Massachusetts. He has been lieutenant governor, governor and now senator for four terms. He never has been beaten in an election. Yet, somebody had to run against him and Mr. Lodge was the indicated man. If he had said "Oh, no, not me," he would really have closed the door on his career, as Senator Saltonstall will be renominated in 1950 and there would have been no other opening for Mr. Lodge.

So there he is, in there contending against the most popular Democrat in the State, an experienced and effective campaigner with a well-organized machine. Though friendly enough personally, the fight will be without gloves and the contrast between the two is striking—the old man against the young one; the one going up, the other going down, as different physically, and in most other ways, as men well can be. It is one of the most significant contests in the country, and the interesting thing is that the belief that Mr. Lodge will win is very much stronger now than it was two months ago when the odds seemed heavy against him.

RIGHT NOW it is said to be about an even bet, with the Republican trend on the increase. Should this prove true and Mr. Lodge be elected, he almost certainly will be the state's "favorite son" in the 1948 convention, the one sure thing about which gathering is that no candidate will have a majority on the first ballot. As Mr. Lodge's friends see it "he has everything Mr. Stassen has—and a good deal more."

A Summary of The News

France is said to favor joint Allied economic administration of Germany, as suggested by Secretary Byrnes, but is opposed to placing the task in German hands. Britain assured Greece that her territorial claims against Bulgaria and Albania would receive a full and fair hearing at the Paris peace conference.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

OLD OR NEW, our cars need seat-covers, and it is grand to find a goodly assortment in the Auto Supplies section of the Snellenburg store. New covers rejuvenate the interior of an old car; new upholstery is protected by covers and are a definite economy. Prices range from $8.95 for sets of coupe covers to coach and sedan covers at $12.95 to $17.95. These include colorful plaid fibre cloths, plain, satinettes, and caledons with leatherette trims. A higher priced group of sailcloth with leatherette trims, for sedans, is priced at $23.95 each. Colors, for most covers, are blue, maroon, tan. Of course, all models do not come for all makes of cars, but you're pretty certain to be satisfied. (3rd floor)

MEN OR WOMEN, or children, can now conceal unsightly face and neck blemishes, from tiny scars and burns to large birthmarks. Similar to a foundation cream, wonderful "Covermark" is accepted by the "American Medical Association" for advertising. Look upon as more than a cosmetic cream, "Covermark" is even exempt from the usual beauty product government tax. It has been written about in the "Readers Digest." It has saved tragic embarrassment, and has slain countless inferiority complexes. The clerk at the counter where it is sold in the Snellenburg Toiletries Dept. will prescribe the skin shade needed, unless you chance the description of the skin tint by mail or phone. "Covermark" comes at $1.35 and $3 a jar. Properly used, a jar lasts a long time. For small blemishes and general use on the average dressing table, there is a "spot stick" costing $1.25. Here's to successful camouflage! (1st fl.)

RIDERS, REJOICE! Riding boots and jodhpur boots for either men or women can now be had in the Snellenburg Shoe Dept. The jodhpur boots for women are priced at $15.95, those for men at $17; the handsome high boots for women are priced at $18.45, and at $21 for men. More and more people are riding. (1st floor)

DON'T DRESS 'EM up with bows and furbelows in hot weather! Let the girls wearing sizes 7 to 14 and 19 to 16 choose a cool, "beaut" wardrobe in the Girls' Play Wear Section of the Snellenburg store. Darling costumes in cottons, spuns, seersuckers, in prints or solids from $3.95 to $10.95! Trip in and see. (2nd floor)

P.S. Do send clippings with mail orders when you can! Phone free (3c, 10c, and 15c out-of-town calls only). Penna.—EXT. 10160; Jersey—WX-1150, Shop located Market, 11th to 12th Sts., Phila.—through to 1125-29 Chestnut St. Be hearin' from you! Faithfully, FAITH.

MOFFO TO OFFER SECOND CARD AT ARENA TONIGHT

Rodriguez and Carter To Box Eight Rounds At St. Ann's Club

OTH BOYS ARE GOOD

Wesley and Hilton, Two Phila. Boys, to Meet in
A Six-Rounder

Promoter Sammy Moffo will offer a second boxing program at the Ann's Arena, Wood and Frank streets, tonight, with a pair of featherweights, Joe Rodriguez, transplanted Philadelphian, coming with "Jimmy" Carter, of the Bronx, New York.

Extremely pleased with his initial card of last week when Walter Evans, Newark, knocked out Patsy Pecano, of Canada, Promoter Moffo promising the fans an equally good show for tonight.

Moffo is judging tonight's gladiators from their excellent records. Rodriguez, a native of Corpus Christi, Texas, moved to Philadelphia several years ago and has won bouts. In Texas, Joe won one, only start in the Lone Star state.

Carter, a stablemate of "Freddie" Archer, New Jersey contender for featherweight honors, has won all of his 15 bouts. He is a classy performer with a fair punch. Rodriguez's perpetual punching style against Carter's classy boxing could, as is the usual case, make an interesting scrap.

Willie Ketchum, New York fight lot, who manages Carter, will ask permission of the Pennsylvania State Boxing Commission to allow Archer to work in Carter's corner. Freddie's style is like that of Rodriguez and Archer may be of help to Carter in tipping off his stablemate.

Rodriguez can handle more than half dozen languages including Spanish, French, Italian, Russian, Arabian, Chinese, and of course, English. He has his toughest time in handling the English language. He can belt beads as well as talk and in recent bouts in Philadelphia defeated Paul Febbo and Willie Alexander in upset victories.

The Rodriguez-Carter affair is slated for eight rounds but both boys expect a knockout to end the proceedings before the eight rounds are up.

An ex-Marine, Jack Sugarman, of Media, will be in one of the six-round semi-windups. He will fight Bob Simmons, of Dayton, N. J. This is a repeat rumble, Simmons winning a close decision in the Laurel Gardens in Newark last winter.

Since then Sugarman has gone unbeaten in seven fights and has been craving for a return with the boy who beat him. Tonight he gets his opportunity and has promised not to let it slip out of his hands. "I want a kayo triumph and I'll get it," says the ex-Marine.

Sugarman was decorated for bravery while in Guadalcanal, and other Pacific Islands. For his great part in battle he later toured the states on bond tours with Lana Turner and Carroll Landis.

In the second six-rounder, Eli Wesley, of Philadelphia, will cross cloths with Charley Hilton, of Philadelphia. Wesley got his first pro fight here six years ago and is known for his many amateur bouts in the St. Ann's arena.

In a four-round bout, Bob Angelo, of Newark, will meet Maxie Bell, of Philadelphia, while the show opens with a four-round affair between Leo Jefferson and Malcolm Gaines, both of Philadelphia.

Promoter Moffo is attempting to make final arrangements this afternoon to have several nationally known fighters to be introduced from the ring before the main bout.

Mignones Arrange Party For Daughter Geraldine

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mignone, Lafayette street, gave a party in honor of their daughter, Geraldine, on Sunday afternoon. The affair was in honor of her birthday anniversary, and the children played games and sang. Prizes for games were given to Patricia Ann Giagnacova, James Rocco, Mary Lou Nicols, Bristol; and "Peggy" Ann Arnel, Trenton, N. J. Refreshments were served and the decorations were pink and blue. Favors were small baskets of candy. Geraldine received many gifts.

Others attending: Dolores and Genevieve Ferrara, Marguerite Morganti, Mary Lou Scurti, Joan Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. James Rocco, Mrs. Theresa Jardine and family, Mr. and Mrs. P. Giagnacova, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mignone, Bristol; Mr. and Mrs. William Mignone, Holmesburg.

"Doggie" Roast Enjoyed By Members of A Class

A "doggie" roast was given by Miss Jean Corbett, Buckley street, for the Sunday School Class of Bristol Methodist Church taught by Miss Ella May Smith. The affair took place Tuesday evening at Burlington Island.

Those invited: the Misses Jessie and Ella May Smith, June Harman, Virginia Stackhouse, Dorothy Kelly, Ellen Coar, Ida Hampton, Louise Smoyer, Marion Rodgers; Mr. and Mrs. John Whelan, Benjamin Harman, John Dowd.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Dates Are Set for Fall Flower Show at Trevoze

TREVOZE, July 18.—After a cessation of activities caused since 1941 by transportation restrictions, Trevoze Horticultural Society has regained its former strength which will soon be evidenced in the staging of its 1946 flower show in the community house, September 18 and 19.

This year's show will be the largest and most inspiring ever attempted by this old organization, officers state. With nine new classes and a thorough streamlining of the entire program, innovations galore await the flower loving visitor.

"While an enlarged rose section will be the favorite of many, the 'Rainbow Division,' a staging in the prismatic colors will doubtless catch the eye of the artist."

GALLAGHER AIDS HIBERNIANS TO SCORE VICTORY

Airtight Pitching Defeats

Gallagher Walked Twice
And Singled on Third
Trip to Plate

Besides hurling airtight ball in the clutches, "Billy" Gallagher started three rallies which aided the Hibernians to score an 8-3 win over the Badenhausen team in a Bristol Suburban League game on Leedom's field last evening.

Gallagher walked twice and singled on his third trip to the plate and each time that the carrot-topped hurler got on he was pushed around the bags by his mates to start rallies which netted the eight runs.

"Reds" was battered for eleven hits by the Badenhausen hitters but by bearing down and aided by two double-plays, he managed to pull through.

The winners had eight hits off "Inky" Schneider with the first three men in the batting order getting a pair each. Leo Hibbs had a double and two singles to lead the losers with the stick. The fielding gem of the night was made by "Camel" Breslin in the third when he made a one-handed catch of Bilger's liner which had at least a three-bagger tag on it.

BOARD RULES GAME MUST BE REPLAYED

The Harriman-Processing baseball game of last week which was won by the Processing team has been ordered replayed by the protest board of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League. Two other protests were disallowed.

George Dougherty, manager of the Harriman team, protested his game with Processing on a decision of Umpire Bob Coles. Umpire Coles called a player out for not reporting in the official line-up. An interpretation of baseball rules brought out that the batter should not be called but the manager or captain should be fined for not reporting a substitution.

The board ordered the game replayed and also recommended a fine on Manager Dougherty for his failure to report the substitution.

The protest of the Langhorne Legion-Hibernians game was disallowed because it is up to an umpire to decide when a game should terminate. Langhorne had protested Umpire Henry Morgan's decision to call the game in the first half of the seventh inning.

The third protest between Edgely and the Hibernians was not allowed because in the board's opinion it was the umpire's decision as to whether or not there was interference on a play at first base. Edgely had protested Umpire Coles' decision for not calling interference in its game with the Hibernians which the Hibs won, 6-5.

The protest meeting was called in the Diamond Sporting Goods Store with League Advisor Thomas Juno presiding. All parties involved were summoned. Members of the protest board were: David Landreth, Edward Liberatore, and Don Fetterman.

Calvary Wins Title In Church Softball League

Truth was "stranger than fiction" last night at Croydon as Calvary Baptist came from behind to score three runs in the last inning to nose out Cornwells, 6-5, in a storybook finish, and thereby win the first half title of the Lower Bucks Church Softball League with their seventh straight victory in as thrilling a game ever staged.

And the character who stepped out of "fiction" into the realm of reality to provide the thrill of the season was Al "Chart" Tomlinson, who stepped to the plate with two men on and two out when his team was trailing 5-3, to smash out his fifth home run. The ball went to deep left center to turn apparent defeat into victory for Calvary. As he slid headlong across the plate with the winning run, several Calvary players and rooters rushed up to pick him up, and carried him off the field. He immediately became the "reception center" to warmfelt congratulations and praise.

Dale Smith and Sam Lombardo hooked up in a fine hurling duel with Lombardo having all the best of it till he tossed the fatal home run ball to "Chart". Lombardo had held Calvary to 3 scattered infield singles after the first inning when the ultimate winners bunched three hits to score their initial tally.

In the "big seventh" with one away Lou Tomlinson dumped a punt along the third base line and beat it out. Elwood Dyer followed with a sharp single through short, then after Harry Eny fouled out, "Chart" Tomlinson smashed out his fifth home run of the season to provide the winning margin for Calvary.

After Calvary scored in the first to take an early lead, Cornwells tied it up on Bill Lamon's double to center with 2 on, and would have scored more except for faulty base-running.

Then in the third, Cornwells added 3 more to take a 4-1 lead on five straight singles by Sam Lombardo, Don Abe, Walt Poston, Charlie Mudie, and Bob Whyte. Mudie's came with the bases full to drive in two runs and Whyte's hit accounted for the third tally.

After Calvary scored two unearned runs in the 4th on a walk, a sacrifice, an infield hit and two errors, Cornwells added one more in the 7th on successive singles by Poston, Mudie and Whyte to give them what appeared to be the game-clinching run.

Both teams played good ball all night, but Cornwells tossed in a pair of damaging errors in the 4th that ultimately proved their undoings as Calvary scored 2 unearned runs after two were out.

The tilt was a "thriller" all the way, and ending the way it did, it was a great victory for Calvary, but a heart-breaker for Lombardo and Cornwells to lose.

In the other ball game of the evening Eddington easily beat Bensalem 9-0 as Bob McGovern turned in the first and only shutout of the season to enable his team to tie the defeated Cornwells for second place. In chalking up the victory McGovern allowed only 6 hits while his mates pounded out 13 and played errorless ball all night. Also, Bernie Stiles each had a double and Goodbread a triple for Eddington while Kite had a double for Bensalem.
